

Milling Internship – Pillen Family Farms

About

At Pillen Family Farms/DNA Genetics we're always looking for great people to join our dynamic team – and that includes internship positions! We're a family-owned, family-focused business that takes great care in everything we do, from raising highly productive pigs to fostering team member development.

We specialize in all aspects of producing quality pork for the world's table which includes our genetic program (DNA Genetics), commercial production (Pillen Family Farms) all the way through final processing (Wholstone Foods).

Our internship program provides an in-depth, immersive experience into all areas of our business, from pig care to promoting our genetic program to customers. Each internship is well crafted to provide students of all majors and career goals with quality professional experiences.

Timeline

Summer Internships and Winter Break/Mid-Term Internships available (flexible upon academic schedule)

Duties & Responsibilities

Interns will obtain experience in the following areas:

- Inspect products to verify conformance to specifications and direct setup and adjustments of machines
- Manage ingredient inventory levels based on usage and production needs
- Establish or adjust work procedures to meet production schedules
- Recommend measures to improve production methods, equipment performance and quality of product
- Perform daily sanitation to all our areas of the mill and equipment
- Perform other duties as assigned

Qualifications

Any student pursuing a two or four-year agricultural (or related) degree who meets the following qualifications:

- 2.8 GPA or above
- Passionate about teamwork, accountability and has the desire to learn and understand the company's operation system
- Team player and ability to work with others

Benefits

- Paid internship
- Housing
- Mileage reimbursement available
- Tuition assistance program
- Weekly opportunity to engage with all leadership
- Experiences with other interns
- Social events

Application Process

Visit pillenfamilyfarms.com/internship to apply!

